Subvention Grants for Media, Book, or Article Projects

Instructions:

The ASLE Subvention Grants Committee is soliciting proposals for innovative projects in ecocriticism and the environmental humanities. We are especially interested in projects of a scholarly and/or creative nature that engage with new media, aim at fostering intercultural or interdisciplinary exchange, or seek to bring insights from the environmental humanities to a non-academic public. Projects such as art installations, documentary film projects, and digital humanities web projects, as well as book or article publication, are eligible. Funds may be used to cover costs such as publication and dissemination, color reproductions, translation, or web/internet expenses.

Required submission information:

- ◆ Author name and university association, if affiliated with an institution; include full contact information (email, mailing address, and phone numbers) and a curriculum vitae or resumé.
- ◆ A summary in English of the project. The total summary should not exceed 3 single-spaced pages.
- ◆ An explanation of the benefits of this work, if it were funded, including comments on possible audience(s) and relationship to other work in the field. The explanation should also not exceed 3 pages.
- ◆ An itemized budget.
- ◆ A schedule for the proposed project that includes a likely date of completion or a specific time frame for the process.

Translation Grants

Instructions:

In order to support work in ecocriticism from international scholars and to expand exchanges across cultures and continents, the ASLE Translation Grants Committee seeks proposals for books or other substantial projects (such as longer articles) to be translated into English, or from English into other languages. Proposed works should be ecocriticism or fiction/non-fiction with a clear relationship to environmental issues, and must already have been published. We strongly encourage the publication of these translations; please comment on plans to do so.

Required submission information:

- ◆ Author name and university association, if affiliated with an institution; include full contact information (email, mailing address, and phone numbers) and a curriculum vitae or resumé. In the case of a translator applying to translate the scholarly work of someone else, provide full information, if possible, for both author and translator(s).
- ◆ Information on original place and year of publication; please note any relevant copyright issues related to the original press.
- ◆ A summary in English of the project. This should include a brief overview of the book or article itself and a short summary of each chapter/section. Include an explanation of how it would be beneficial if this work were translated into English, or from English into another language. The full summary and rationale should not exceed 3 single-spaced pages.
- ◆ An itemized budget.
- ◆ A schedule for proposed translation work that includes a likely date of completion or a specific time frame for the process.
- ◆ List of possible publishers or presses that might be interested in the translation.
